Team 18 Self and Peer Evaluation Justifications

| Team Members | Justifications |
|---------------|---|
| Ehmar Khan | I tried to make sure that I complete a significant portion of each project and that I at least follow the team plans and contribute equally. I was fully open-minded, objective and positive, didn't complain and respected other's ideas just like my other team members did. I almost always asked for feedback on my work. Although I may not have initiated discussions as much as couple other of my team mates, I believe I showed good team spirit in terms of communications and evaluating our work. I contributed well in every project and I feel I've been a great team member. |
| David Ramirez | Possibly been the best member in our team. Participated early in every project except our evaluation plan, where he notified us early that he won't be able to contribute as much as he did on the previous projects. Gave reminders on upcoming due dates, asked for opinions, and would often give us a head start on the projects. David showed leadership quality, contributed to the team throughout and has been very effective to the team. |
| Khoa Phan | Khoa participated well in all group activities and communicated timely with the team. He suggested Google Hangouts when he realized our current form of communication wasn't good enough, and that was very helpful. I would mostly give the same justifications for rating him as I did for mine but I'd like to mention that he was also especially helpful in developing sketches and the interactive prototype for our project. |

| Richard Maxwell | Richard had some form of participation in almost all group activities. He had a positive attitude towards the team and respected other's ideas. However, communication with the team was minimal and there was a lack of enthusiasm in terms of contributing early, asking for information and giving opinions. He was effective and had much contribution, especially in the early stages, but I wish he was more consistent. |
